Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting was held on Monday, September 24. A total of ten members were in attendance for the meeting. The meeting was started off with the Pledge of Allegiance followed by introductions of the Board of Directors, Museum Staff, and the members present. The ballots were received from the membership and tallied before the meeting. The membership learned that Maureen Eggleston was re-elected for another three years for the LeRoy position and Victor Edelman was elected for a three year term for the Lebo position. The proposed changes to the By-Laws and Constitution were also accepted by the membership. Those present at the meeting were treated to a wonderful presentation about how displays are created using the new Election Display as an example. The PowerPoint presentation was given by Shirley Gorge-Logan and created by Erin Burdick.

The membership learned there is a great deal of work that goes into creating a display. They were surprised that it took 157.5 hours to create the Election Display!

After the meeting was adjourned, the membership viewed the new Election Display and other displays in the museum.

The next annual meeting will be held on Monday, September 29, 2014.

Kansas Day 2013

Our biggest fundraiser of the year. Kansas Day, will be held on Saturday, January 26, 2013. The funds for the event will go into the museum's Educational Fund. The activities scheduled for the fundraiser include a Chili Feed, Bake Sale, Silent Auction, and a Live Auction. Dining hours are 11:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m. with take out service until 3:00 p.m. while supplies last. The menu includes chili, frito pie, chili dogs, hot dogs, ham & beans, chips, crackers, and homemade pies and cakes (donated by our members). There is a limited quantity of ham and beans available. During the serving times, you are welcome to view our working train set as well as all the other exhibits and participate in the auctions.

We will be holding both a Live

Auction and a Silent Auction. The bigger ticket items will be in the Live Auction, such as the Disney World Park Hopper Passes, Petite Mink Coat (with certificate), Kansas City Chief's autographed football, autographed items by KSU coaches including women's basketball coach Deb Patterson (sponsored by Arrowhead Hills Travel), autographed items by KU including men's basketball signed by the team (sponsored by Coffey County Land & Title), and several other items. To view items that will be in our auctions, view our Kansas Day 2013 Auction album on our Facebook page, www.facebook.com/ coffeymuseum. Winners of the auctions must pay and pick up items on Saturday, January 26, unless arrangements are made in advance.

We will accept cash and in county checks only! Please remember, this is a fundraiser and the funds are going to a good cause. Be prepared to bid spirited and lively!

In order to make this years fundraiser a success, we need your help. We need people to make fruit or berry pies (no refrigerated pies due to limited space) and/or monetary donation to purchase items for the Chili Feed. Last year's Bake Sale was a big hit, but we sold out quick. We need more people to make baked goods for our Bake Sale. Please fill out the form below and mail it back to the Coffey County Museum or email Erin at erin@coffeymuseum.org. Auction donations are due by January 14th and the pies are due before 11:00 a.m. on Saturday, January 28th.

Election Display

The Election Display was completed before the Annual Meeting which was held in September. Those present at the meeting learned all that went into creating the display and how long each step took. It took the staff 157.5 hours to complete the Election Display. The display will be up past Kansas Day in January 2013.

The display has a complete set of newspapers of the week after President John Fitzgerald Kennedy was assassinated. Also in the display is a campaign torch from 1892, presidential dolls, ballot boxes, political buttons, and other interesting artifacts. Hanging on the walls are interesting facts about the presidents and election including how the term "It's O.K." came about. Also in the display is a list of all of the people who ran for president during each election including the 25 candidates in the 2012 election, of course not all of them were on all the states' A ballots.

Veterans' Display

The Veterans' Display this year is on display in the Flint Hills Gallery in the floor displays in the middle of the gallery. As you enter the gallery, a display case of casket flags and grave markers fill the display case. To the right is a display case of Civil War artifacts and a couple of photographs. Next to it is a case of the artifacts and photograph from the Spanish-American War and the Philippine-American War. The next two cases are of artifacts from World War I including a gas mask, hats, banners, bags, and more. Across from the WWI display cases are two display cases of WWII artifacts. Several hats and medals are in the display cases along with other interesting artifacts.

The case next to it houses several artifacts from the Korean War and Vietnam War. Several interesting artifacts in the case are a gas mask from the Korean War, insect repellent from the Vietnam War, and a procedure book on how to deliver a nuclear bomb from the Vietnam War.

The other display case has artifacts from Desert Storm including a gas mask from an Iraqi general and leaflets about what would happen if the Iraqis surrendered and if they didn't. The table in the middle of the room has the Vietnam era statue, a book containing photographs from Operation Iraqi Freedom, and a book of Lebo WWII Veterans. The inner ceiling contains the photographs of Coffey County Veterans that were donated for this display. A video of the Coffey County Veterans can be found on our Facebook page at www.facebook.com/coffeymuseum.

New Sidewalk

The Coffey County Historical Museum has a new look leading to its front doors. Originally, bricks taken from the old Burlington High School were laid down as a walkway between the flower gardens and the front doors. Over the years, the bricks have raised and become increasingly dangerous as visitors entering into the museum have often tripped and stumbled. Additionally, the repeated use of salt during the winter months has speed up the deterioration process of the bricks. Burlington Construction spent several hours saving the old bricks as they took them out. The museum is dedicated to preserving the history of Coffey County, not only with the artifacts inside the building, but with the artifacts outside as well. Plans are currently underway to incorporate the bricks into a display. Here are some photographs showing the process of the new sidewalk.

Above: The old Burlington High School brick sidewalk before they were removed. Sidewalk was uneven and bricks were deteriorating.

New Gift Shop Items

The Coffey County Museum recently purchased many new items for the Gift Shop, just in time for holiday shopping season. The Gift Shop now offers several Kansas themed shot glasses including Wizard of Oz, KSU, and one that has a tornado in the middle! We also offer two different coin purses: KU and Wizard of Oz. Several new magnets, keychains, and postcards had been added to our collection along with more collectibles and children's toys. Pictured are just a few of the new items in our Gift Shop. Come in and see what all our Gift Shop has to offer!

New Face: Carol Brown

You may see a new face at the museum. Her name is Carol Brown and she is with us from the SCSEP program. Carol was born and raised in Wichita, Kansas. She was adopted when she was six days old by her great aunt and uncle and Carol was the only child for them. Carol also has nine brothers and sisters by her real mother, but was told they were her cousins when she was growing up.

Carol graduated high school and married her high school sweetheart at the age of 17 and they had three

HAUNTED HAPPENINGS: Downtown Ghost Tour and Building Facts crash

There have been unexplained events happening at the museum. One incident was with the light bulbs in the back storage area where we store most of our artifacts. Shirley had replaced a fluorescent light bulb that had been burnt out and made sure it. was secured in the bracket. As she walked towards the doors, she heard a crash. The light bulb had fallen and shattered into pieces on the floor below. Shirley quickly cleaned up the mess and installed another light bulb and made sure there was no way the bulb would fall. Once she made way for the doors again...another crash. That light bulb fell and shattered just like the other light bulb! Once again, she cleaned up the mess. She installed another light bulb and once again made sure it would not fall, but once again it fell just like the other previous bulbs. This happened one more time. At this time, Shirley had enough of replacing the light bulb only to have it stop...and the light bulb never fell again. Could it have been a ghost playing around who decided to stop after seeing the frustration it caused? On a calm winter day, Shirley was out in the school house vacuuming and she could hear women talking and laughing. She turned off the vacuum and looked around no one was there.

She went back to cleaning and heard the voices again. Then, she felt someone touch her on her shoulder. She quickly packed up and came back inside.

The school house is not the only building that had things touch them. One time, a service technician with the alarm company was installing the new alarms in the church building. He came inside the museum pale white and said that he had been up on the ladder putting in the new felt something touch his leg. He said that there is something in the church and would not since the incident.

In another incident, Erin went outside to unlock the church and the school house and when she came back inside the main building, she heard what sounded like women talking. Since the voices were coming from the front of the museum, she thought it was just the other employees talking. When she found Shirley just entering the museum and no one else there, Erin asked if Shirley had been talking to someone or on the phone...both answers were no. No one else was in the building the time she heard the voices, so where did they come from? When voices are heard, it seems they are always coming from the front area or the Asbury Gallery. Another time Erin heard voices when she was covering the front for lunches. She was the only one in the building. She went to the back storage area to grab something, when she came out into the Pioneer Gallery, she heard voices. She thought she had missed greeting some visitors, so she quickly walked through the Patchen Hall to get to the front all the while hearing people talking. As she reached the front office, the talking stopped and no one was there. She walked through a couple galleries yelling, "hello," but no one answered. No vehicles were in the parking lot and no one was around the building. Could the voices be of ghosts?

Other happenings at the museum are seeing shadows move and hearing footsteps. With Halloween coming up, we decided it might be interesting to contact a paranormal investigator to investigate the museum for us and to do a presentation for a fundraiser. Shirley researched paranormal investigators in Kansas and she came across Everyday-Legacy Paranormal in Wichita, Kansas. Leo Fernandez, Claire Nichols and Ben Nichols from Everyday-Legacy Paranormal came and investigated the museum on October 6th. Board of Directors President, Carol Sunseri, and her husband, Matt Sunseri, were present with the group on their investigation. Everyday-Legacy Paranormal presented their findings from the museum investigation and explained how they do investigations at the second event of the fundraiser which was held on Saturday, October 27th.

The program started off with the founder of the group, Jeremiah Norwood who spoke about his first experience with the paranormal. Ben Nichols described the different equipment they use during investigation such as the laser pointers, geophone, digital cameras, video cameras, voice recorders, Mel Meter 8704R-Vibe, weather forecaster, and E-Pod. One of the pieces of equipment, the geophone, was made by Ben. A geophone detects vibration, such as footsteps and tapping, and the lights on the device light up according to how much vibration is detected. Most geophones have a set of the same colored lights. Ben created this one so it would have several different lights allowing the size vibration to be easily measured. The group also uses laser pointers so if something steps in front of the pointer, then it will break the beam of light. Ben's wife Claire presented the findings to the audience. No images were captured to show the crowd. Everyday-Legacy Paranormal said they rarely get images capture. They did witness apparitions in the Asbury Gallery and the back storage area. The team also experienced several "cobweb effects." This phenomenon is described as a feeling of walking through a spider web. It is said to are believed to be sounds from the paranormal captured on a digital recorder. Some of the EVP's were hard to make out what was recorded.

Ben Nichols listens to Claire Nichols explain what she thinks the EVP that she just played for the audience is saying.

Others could be heard plain as day. One of the recordings, Claire, the investigator, asks, "Can you get real close to that?" trying to get an entity to make some equipment go off and a faint male voice is heard saying, "Anytime." Another male EVP is captured singing what sounds to be "Someone's in the kitchen with Dinah" from the song "I've Been Working on the Railroad." The team also captured a couple of EVP's of females. Most of the EVP's were captured in the Asbury Gallery. One was captured in the back storage room by all of the veteran artifacts with a man saying what appears to be "Let the bomb go." The EVP's can be found on their website at www.everyday-legacy.com under the evidence tab. We would like to thank Jeremiah Norwood, Misty Townsend, Claire Nichols, and Ben Nichols from Everyday-Legacy Paranormal for doing the presentation for us. The group considers investigating "haunted" places as a hobby and all of their services are free of charge. For more information about the group, please visit their website at www.everdaylegacy.com or email them at inquire@everyday-legacy.com.

HAUNTED HAPPENINGS: Downtown Ghost Tour and Building Facts

With Halloween coming up, we thought a fundraiser with a ghostly theme would be a hit. The fundraiser, Haunted Happenings, was created as a two event fundraiser and all of the proceeds from the fundraiser would go to the Coffey County Museum's Educational Fund. Gene Merry and Jim Stukey graciously donated their time to be tour guides for the first event of the fundraiser, Downtown Ghost Tour and Building Facts, on Friday, October 26th. The tour was a very interesting and educational tour for the twenty people who braved the cold to go on the walking tour. Merry and Stukey started out their tour at the old Carnegie Library, which is now home to Gene Merry's River Art Gallery and Merry Investments, located at 210 N 2nd Street in Burlington. Today the building is filled with artworks from local artists and a collection of Wizard of Oz memorabilia. In the past, the land was once the Burlington Hotel (later known as the Central House) which was Burlington's first hotel and the third building in Burlington. The hotel was built by F.A. Atherly, who was Burlington's first mayor. A mural of Atherly and his wife is depicted on the north side of the present day Avalon Salon, just south across the street from the old Carnegie Library. The first minister who was a Methodist held his sermons in the basement of the Burlington Hotel. The land was later donated to the city of Burlington to build a library. Andrew Carnegie donated a large sum of money for the erection of the building. The Burlington Commercial Club also was a sponsor in the building of the library. The cornerstone was laid on July 11, 1912, by governor Walter R. Stubbs making this year, the building's 100th birthday. Gene Merry will be hosting an event in December to celebrate the building's century old mark. On the floor inside the building are still the faint marks of where the librarian's desk used to sit. Betty Denslow was a librarian there and could be remembered by her "shh" to visitors to the library. Today "shh" can still be heard in the old building along with sounds of footsteps.

The next stop of the tour was across the street at Tom Robrahn's Law Office at 206 N 3rd. It was once home to a basketball gym, Ozark Trails Garage, Caldwell John Deere agency, two auto dealerships, Union Gas office, Star Vision Satellite, and Jim Stukey's art gallery. Tom and his wife, Kimberly, purchased the building in 2008 and started to remodel a little bit to make it more energy efficient. Before then, the 1940's was the last time remodeling was done to the building. Interesting unexplained events started to take place. The ceiling fans in the garage part would come on with no one else in the building. Jim Stukey stated when he lived there, the lights would turn on by themselves in the same area. The garage is where the Robrahn's keep their collection of cars. A few times, they discovered the electric windows were down, lights on, and radio on, and the keys for the cars were at their house across town! Other mysterious events, too numerous to list, have taken place in this building. The Robrahn's did some research and discovered a mechanic died in the building. From the January 1, 1917, issue of The Burlington Republican: "Emil Cartwright, Proprietor of the Ozark Trails Garage, was accidentally killed vesterday when a piece of metal flew off of an attachment to the flywheel (sometimes called a "spider") of his Metz roadster and struck him in the right eye. The accident happened in his garage at noon and he was unconscious until six o'clock when he died." The doctors were called, but there was nothing they could do. Could the mechanic still be hanging

Merritt sold wedding supplies, fine china, and more. Sometimes, Charlotta can still be seen in the northwest corner early in the mornings. Merry also spoke about what the other businesses used to be along the street such as Dickinson's Harness Shop, where Arrowhead Hills Travel is today, and the building just north of it used to be the post office.

Across the street is the flat apartment Jim Stukey lives in. A small liquor store once stood at the entryway to his apartment. The upstairs apartment space formerly was occupied by a skating rink, dance hall, and a boxing ring. Max Baer Sr., one-time Heavyweight Champion of the World, once boxed there. Many of you may remember his son, Max Baer, Jr., who played Jethro Bodine in The Beverly Hillbillies. The apartment has the only skylight left in town. Tin ceilings and rounded corners give it more of a historical feel along with the antiques from the old grocery store and the Puffer sisters. Stukey says he sometimes see children in his apartment and they are friendly.

Across the street at 311 Neosho is an apartment on the second and third floors of the building. Gene Merry spent a large amount of time remodeling in the building and one day when he was working on the second floor, he saw an elderly man

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED!

We greatly appreciate all of our wonderful volunteers! As of October 31st, our wonderful group of volunteers have put in 732.25 hours of volunteer time for 2012. 139.25 of the hours have been from volunteers at our special functions such as Kansas Day and Haunted Happenings. 304 of the 2012 volunteer hours have been put in by our weekend volunteers. We are in need of more Weekend Volunteers! Weekend Volunteers store. Everyday the owner went into the store, the movie "The Good Boy" would be on the floor. When they viewed the security cameras, they witnessed flashes of light and then the movie would fall. After telling the ghost to stop it, the movie stayed on the shelf. After some research, they discovered a young boy accidently fell in the elevator shaft in the building and died.

Those in attendance for the tour were able to view the old Carriage Works building on third street. Riley Morgan and his wife, Meghan, purchased the building and are remodeling it to live in. Downstairs the brick arches could still be seen in the walls above the windows and new window panes where in place to resemble the old style of windows. The rooms were all framed up. The soda fountain from Johnson's Pharmacy had been restored and will be used in their bar area. The upstairs was also framed for bedrooms. The floors where dances where once held had work three hours on a Saturday or a Sunday. Their duties are to greet visitors, answer the phone, and sell items from the Gift Shop. We have other things the weekend volunteers can do while they are here if they wish to do something more. The Coffey County Sheriff Department Jailers have generously volunteered to come and unlock and lock the building and turn on and off the lights for our weekend volunteers. If you are been sanded down and will be preserved. Morgan said the plans were to move into their historic building home the first of the new year. It will be a sight to see! As of right now, no known ghostly activity has been reported with this building.

Gene Merry and Jim Stukey have been doing the Downtown Tour and Building Facts for two years now. Prior to that, they had a long discussion about the possibility to do a tour until Salli Stewart asked them to do a tour and immediately they put it together. They had several ghost stories from building owners that they developed for the stories for the first tour. As they developed the stories, more stories of ghosts came in which were added to the tour. Buildings in the tour are usually the same ten historic buildings downtown. People have responded very positively to the tour which features stories of ghost, art and architecture. The ghost that stand out to them are their own experiences: Merry's experience with the man in the window at 311 Neosho building and Stukey's experience with the ghost children walking in his flat apartment.

interested in joining our great team of weekend volunteers, please contact Erin at the museum toll free (888) 877 -2653 or email erin@coffeymuseum.org. High School students are also encouraged to become weekend volunteers. We do request students work in pairs. Volunteer hours are tracked so students can use them for scholarship applications.

Bricks

Gazebo bricks make a great Christmas present! There are only 500 bricks that can be personalized and we have already sold over half of them. The personalized bricks form a walkway encircling the gazebo. Dedication bricks are a wonderful way to recognize, memorialize or honor a loved one while providing support for the museum. The bricks can be engraved with two lines of 13 characters each. Bricks sell for $40 each and can be purchased at the museum gift shop or by mailing the form (below) to the museum. We still have room for your name! So, hurry in and make sure your name is engraved in history! These bricks have been purchased since our last newsletter: ELVA ANN FREEMAN,

GENE & DORIS FULK, VANARSDALE GEORGE & DORIS. The proceeds of the bricks go towards the upkeep of the gazebo. *Please visit our website for the full list of Gazebo Brick names. www.coffeymuseum.org

Membership Dues

Becoming a member of the Coffey County Historical Society is an excellent way to help support the museum. With your support, the museum is able to preserve the history of Coffey County for this and future generations. In return, members will receive a quarterly newsletter, invitations to upcoming grand openings, and can vote during election time for Board of Director members prior to the annual meeting. Also members' birthdays will be listed in our quarterly newsletter, ONLY if the member fills out the birthday information on the membership form. Annual membership is $5.00 per person per year or $15.00 per business per year. LIFETIME MEMBERSHIP is our best value; with a donation of $100 or more per person you no longer have to pay the $5 annual dues. As a lifetime member you will experience all the perks of being a member plus your name will be engraved on a plaque at the entrance of the museum and receive a Lifetime Membership Certificate. Please take a minute to fill out the membership below and return to the museum with your payment. If you would like to check on the status of your membership,
